Disclosure: Professional Financial Strategies, Inc. ("Professional Financial") is an independent investment advisor registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission. CFP professionals are fiduciaries with a duty of loyalty and care licensed by the Certified Financial Planner Board of Standards.

Please remember that past performance may not be indicative of future results. Different types of investments involve varying degrees of risk, and there can be no assurance that the future performance of any specific investment, investment strategy, or product (including the investments and/or investment strategies recommended or undertaken by Professional Financial Strategies, Inc. ["PFS"]), or any non-investment related content, made reference to directly or indirectly in this commentary will be profitable, equal any corresponding indicated historical performance level(s), be suitable for your portfolio or individual situation, or prove successful. Due to various factors, including changing market conditions and/or applicable laws, content herein may no longer reflect current opinions or positions.

Historical performance results for investment indices, benchmarks, and/or categories have been provided for general informational/comparison purposes only, and generally do not reflect the deduction of transaction and/or custodial charges, the deduction of an investment management fee, nor the impact of taxes, the incurrence of which would have the effect of decreasing historical performance results. It should not be assumed that your PFS account holdings correspond directly to any comparative indices or categories. Please Also Note: (1) performance results do not reflect the impact of taxes; (2) comparative benchmarks/indices may be more or less volatile than your PFS accounts; and (3) a description of each comparative benchmark/index is available upon request.

Moreover, you should not assume that any discussion or information contained in this commentary serves as the receipt of, or as a substitute for, personalized investment advice from PFS or a CFP professional. PFS is neither a law firm, nor a certified public accounting firm, and no portion of the commentary content should be construed as legal or accounting advice. A copy of the PFS' current written disclosure Brochure discussing our advisory services and fees continues to remain available upon request or at the PFS website.

Remember: If you are a PFS client, please contact us, in writing, if there are any changes in your personal/financial situation or investment objectives for the purpose of reviewing/evaluating/revising our previous recommendations and/or services, or if you would like to impose, add, or to modify any reasonable restrictions to our investment advisory services. Unless, and until, you notify us, in writing, to the contrary, we shall continue to provide services as we do currently. Be sure to advise us if you have not been receiving account statements (at least quarterly) from your account custodian(s).

Let the Compounding Commence!

Second quarter 2023

David Booth

Executive Chairman and Founder, Dimensional Fund Advisors

Every year, families and friends celebrate students who are graduating from colleges and universities. Parents beam with pride at their children's accomplishments and exhale in relief now that the tuition bills have finally stopped. It's a time when adults give a lot of advice, which is why I have one simple idea I want to pass along to this year's graduating class that I hope you never forget. Parents, take note too, because with college out of the way, you can get back to focusing on your retirement planning.

Let the compounding begin!

In case you didn't come across this idea in a college economics class, let me explain compounding in simple terms. It's the process by which the value of an investment increases over time as earnings or interest are reinvested. It's a snowball effect but with money. Here's an example.

If you're a US investor and lucky enough to have up to $35,000 left over in your 529 college savings plan, you can roll it over into a Roth IRA over a series of years starting in 2024, provided the account has been open at least 15 years.¹

If you don't touch that $35,000 for 50 years when invested in a diversified equity index fund, and the U.S. stock market averages a 10% annualized return (close to its long-term historical average), guess how much you'll have?²

A. $1,584,074

B. $2,551,167

C. $4,108,680

The answer is C. Over $4.1 million!

If a new graduate were to start this in their mid-20s and invest that same amount for only 45 years because you retired at age 67, you would end up with B, or $2.6 million. That's good, but not as great as C.

If you do it for only 40 years because you retired at age 62, you'll end up with A, or $1.6 million. Also good, but not nearly as great as C.

Let the Compounding Commence!

Compounding also can help you pursue other financial goals along the way, like making a down payment on a first home. But don't be upset if you spent your whole college fund or took out student loans. Start early with a little and get in the habit of adding to stocks when you can, such as in a matching 401(k) account. As you can see from this snowballing effect, having a lot of time can make up for not having a lot of money at the beginning.

In addition to increasing the value of your wealth, compounding can also be a valuable force in your future life. For example, your family has made an investment in time and money over the last few years that will have an enormous effect on the rest of your life. How much money are we talking about? College graduates, on average, earn 84% more than those with a high-school education. That adds up to an extra $1.2 million over a lifetime.³

But it's more than just money. When you get to be like me, someone who graduated from college more than 50 years ago, you see that you are the result of the compounding of your life's decisions, both good and bad. It's hard to quantify, but it's surely there. For example, in graduate school, I decided I didn't want to be a professor. That one decision had a profound impact on the rest of my life. Instead, I started a company with the people I met in graduate school. Four decades later, I'm still working with some of them. I even got to watch my former professor and current colleague Eugene Fama receive a Nobel Prize in Economic Sciences. That was not anything I planned when I graduated from college. Life is full of surprises, and many of them come from how your good decisions compound over decades.

So, start rolling your snowball, both in life and in investing. Let the benefits of compounding commence!

Investments involve risks. The investment return and principal value of an investment may fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original value. Past performance is not a guarantee of future results. There is no guarantee strategies will be successful.

The investment approach discussed does not assure a positive return or a positive investment experience. There are numerous ways of approaching investing, only one of which is presented here, which may not be appropriate for every individual. 529 Plans are tax-advantaged savings plans available in the United States that are designed to help pay for education. Life Planning Asset Map

In these uncertain times, you may know a friend, family member or colleague who may have a difficult situation, or who wonders whether they are getting the right advice, or simply needs sound professional advice but doesn't get it. That's not uncommon. Studies suggest that over 80 percent of "middle-class millionaires" would value a second opinion for planning.*

In order to help those you care about achieve their goals and dreams, we provide a complimentary Life Planning Asset Map for those people. We're pleased to offer your friends, family and colleagues the same guidance and expertise that you've experienced as a valued client of Professional Financial.

Paul Byron Hill, MBA, MFP, MSFS, ChFC®, RICP®, CFP® is a nationally recognized Wealth Management Certified Professional™ and Certified Financial Planner™ professional, written about in such publications as Fortune, Forbes, Bloomberg Businessweek, and Money. Paul is the co-author of Retire Abundantly. Reuters AdvisePoint recognized Mr. Hill as one of 500 "Top Advisers" in the U.S. and was once featured in a video interview on their website.

Paul founded Professional Financial Strategies, Inc. in 1993 as one of the first life planning firms to specialize in retirement and wealth management for affluent and aspiring families. Paul is a personal chief financial officer acting in the best interest of his clients. He brings together a proven process and a network of specialists for making informed decisions for systematic structured strategies, lifetime income, mitigating taxes, protecting assets, and leaving a legacy for family and purposeful causes.

INTRODUCTORY LIFE PLANNING PHASES

Life Planning Asset Map

Working with experts committed to professional wealth management process

Ask ten investors to define wealth management. Rather, ask ten financial advisors you meet to do so. You'll probably get ten different answers, and most replies will focus on investing or only products. As a client of Professional Financial, however, you benefit from a team of CFPs® with a network of experts for purposeful wealth management.

Our professional planning process

At Professional Financial we approach each engagement with a fiduciary collaborative process. We'll have conversations to learn about your values, goals and dreams for the future. This proven process enables us to custom tailor an individualized plan that helps you effectively progress toward your life goals. For valued clients, you'll recognize each of the six steps above. In our Life Planning Asset Map, we offer a portion of our consultative service, complimentary, to your friends, family and colleagues.

What to expect from a life planning asset map

We will meet with your friends and family in a conversation to explore their concerns about the future and opportunities to see where we can help. If there is a mutual fit, we will invite them back for a follow up conversation. We could confirm whether they are on the right track with their current financial advisors. Or if we are not the right fit, we will suggest another professional firm that may be more appropriate for them. Either way, they will receive constructive advice and recommendations regarding their planning situation—possibly a value of $5,000 or more.
